New York, Nov. 5.—The Herald this morning, in an editorial under the caption of "Political Consequences of the Late Elections," gives a list of the Democratic and Republican States, with the number of electors to which each is entitled, to show the present political situation as regards the Presidential contest.

The Democratic States are Alabama, Arkansas, California, Connecticut, Delaware, Florida, Georgia, Indiana, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maryland, Mississippi, New York, New Hampshire, Tennessee, Texas, Virginia and West Virginia, with a total electoral vote of 183. The remainder are put down as Republican States, and the nineteen in all have a total electoral vote of 181.

This shows that the next Presidential election will be close and doubtful, and one of the most stirring and exciting that has ever occurred in the history of our political struggles. Judged by later elections in all States, the Democratic party would elect the next President by a majority of six or seven, but that will be easily wiped out if the Republicans carry Onio next October, the moral effect of a triumph there three weeks in advance of the great contests, being worth at least fifty electorial votes to the party which shall carry the State.

Death of Isaac Young.

A telegram to Wm. Young, Esq., the well-known insurance man, brings the sad intelligence of the death Wednesday at Leavenworth, Kansas, of his brother, at Leavenworth, Kansas, of his brother, Colonel Isaac Young. Col. Young was one of the former residents of Cincinnati and a popular business man, having for years been engaged in the saddlery business on Main street. Some twenty-five years since he left for California, where he resided some time, and from there proceeded to Kansas, in which State he resided up to the time of his sudden demise. He was known to the business community of Cincinnati as a man of marked integrity and uprightness, and his untimely calling off will be deeply regretted by many.

As to Street Battroads. An article appeared in a morning paper to-day reflecting very severely upon the Consolidated Street Bailroad Company, and upon Mr. Redmond and the originators of the ordinance now pending to compromise the affairs between the City and the Consolidated railroad,

A STAR reporter called to-day on Mr. Bullock, the Superintendent of the consolidated company, and also on Mr. Redmond. to talk railroad with them. Mr. Bullock was found in his office, apparently undisturbed by the attack. In reply to the reporter's inquiries, he said:

reply to the reporter's inquiries, he said:

"I'don't think it just that there should be quite so much talk about dishonesty and games and efforts for jobs. There is no job in the ordinance, and we of the consolidated company only want what is just in the matter. We would prefer to run on the system practiced under the ordinance of 1873, had we not been stopped by the courts. We would prefer running the East End line at a single fare, could we charge full rates on Route No. 9. We have been debarred from doing this, and now we want some kind of an agreement by which we can settle up our dues to the city and arrange so that we can charge an equal fare on all the llocs. They talk about license and instruante that we wish to evade the payment. This is not the case, but if we did it would be no more than others are allowed to do. Council joniy a short time since passed an ordinance allowing a double line to be built up Eighth street, and did not require oar license of any kind. The ordinance creating Route 18 is the same. No license is required, and in each case the ordinance is for thirty years. All we want is a just extension of our chatter and a fair compromise, and an opportunity to make our fares all equal."
